1167. DR. JAGANNATH MISHRA: Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state:

(a) what are the criteria adopted for sanction of loans to farmers for farm development work under the Special Loan Account which is operated by the National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development; and

(b) the number of farmers have been granted loans under this scheme in the State of Bihar, Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra during the last three years?

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE (SHRI P. CHIDAMBARAM): (a) In order to enable the Command Area Development Authority CADA/Land Development Corporations (LDCs) to take up on-farm development works on the holdings in the command areas of farmers ineligible to get institutional loans, National bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) constitutes a Special Loan Account (SLA). Funds to the extent of the estimated expenditure in respect of such ineligible farmers are earmarked for the SLA and are contributed to the extent of 37.5% each by the concerned State Governments and Central Government as special deposits and the balance 25% by NABARD out of its own resources.

The SLA is used to provide medium and long term loans by way of refinance assistance to financing institutions for providing loans to CADA/LDC to meet the expenditure on on-farm development work on the holding of farmers ineligible to get loan from institutional sources. The present rate of interest on loans from SLA is 9% p.a. Further the concerned State Governments are required to give irrevocable guarantee to the financing banks as to the repayment of loans given by he bank to the CADA/LDC.

(b) The number of farmers who have been benefitted under Special Loan Account Scheme in Maharashtra, as reported by NABARD, during the last three years is indicated below:

1993-94	1994-95	1995-96
1165	581	NIL

NABARD have further reported that information in respect of Bihar and Andhra Pradesh for the above three years is nil.
